“You just have to decide if you’re a Tigger or an Eeyore...” - Amanda Redford

“You just have to decide if you’re a Tigger or an Eeyore...” Amanda believes she has the power to create her own life experiences – she wants them to be positive ones!”

Since joining Deloitte, Amanda has had the privilege of working with exciting clients across various industries, including leading a team to deliver communications and workforce transition activities on the largest Shared Services transformation in the southern hemisphere!

One thing she loves about her job is her Human Capital team. She is passionate about on-boarding new team members, organising team building events, leading knowledge sharing sessions and most of all making amazing friends here at Deloitte!

“You're happiest while you're making the greatest contribution” – Robert F. Kennedy

Amanda is currently training for the Sydney half marathon. It is her fellow Can Too team members who inspire her the most. This is largely because they selflessly give their time to raise money for cancer research, motivate her to give her all each week as their team captain, and inspire her to train harder to reach her own personal fitness goals while still giving to others.
